Sunday Times Finances for the 2016 National Book Critics Circle Award for Fiction is this literary masterwork, Louise Erdrich, the bestselling author of The Round House and the Pulitzer Prize-winning The Tables of Desire. Her narrative voice is a master of the contemplative and the emotional, a modulator of the human spirit and the natural world. Erdrich's fiction is timeless and universal, a story of survival, of love, and of the power of hope. In the title story, "The Round House," the author introduces us to a young boy named Jack Mauer, whose life is forever changed when his father is killed in a tragic hunting accident. In "The Round House," we see the protagonist grow from a naive and innocent child to a mature and compassionate young man. The novel is a powerful exploration of the human condition and a testament to the enduring power of love.
